STEPHEN PAINE was born in England about 1600. In 1638 he left Great Ellingham, near Hingham, Norfolk County, and came in the "Diligent" to Hingham, Mass., with his wife, three sons and four servants. He was made a freeman on June 6, 1639. He was one of the grantees of Gov. Bradford in 1641 to the eight miles square, named Rehoboth, containing the present towns of Seaconk, Rehoboth, Attleboro, parts of Swansea, Mass., and Pawtucket, R. I. "About the year 1643 a joynt agreement was made by the inhabitants of Seaconk, alias Rehoboth, for the bringing in of their estates, that so men's lotments might be taken up." It was a valuation for taxation and for division of additional lands. Among the 58 names we note as third in ratio Stephen Payne £535, Stephen Payne, Jr., £160; Joseph Peck £306, Henry Smith £260, Peter Hunt £327, Will Carpenter £254:10.

King Philip, Sachem of the Wampanoags, on March 30, 1668 confirmed unto Mr. Stephen Paine the elder, Peter Hunt, John Allen, Henry Smith and others, the selectmen of the town of Rehoboth, the eight miles square purchased of Massasoit his father in 1641. In 1645 Stephen Paine was elected Representative, or Deputy, to the Court at Plymouth and was re-elected continuously until 1660 and at various times afterwards until 1671. He was a miller by occupation, a large land owner and a leading citizen.

Under date of Dec. 25, 1660, ten proprietors of "Sowames Lands" agreed "that none of us shall at any time let or sell any of the said lauds to any strangers * * without the Joynt Consent of us all. * * that Henry Smith of Rehoboth be the man to measure all Lands * * that Thomas Willett * * have thirty acres * * adjoining unto the land of his, formerly measured out by William Carpenter * *". (Signed) John Brown, Peter Hunt, Thomas Willett, Henry Smith, Stephen Paine, Phillip Walker, Joseph Peck, Thomas Chafey, John Allen, Samuel Newman.

Among the proprietors at Sowams (Swansea) prior to 1697 are Stephen Paine, Stephen Paine, Jr., Joseph Peck, Samuel Peck, Peter Hunt, Henry Smith, James Smith, Ebenezer Tiffany, Joshua Smith.

March 5, 1671, Mr. Stephen Paine, Sen. of Rehoboth and Mr. Nicholas Tanner, were appointed by the Court to see Mr. Blackstone's land laid forth according to the grant. This land was about 200 acres on the Blackstone River, now Cumberland, R. I., where Mr. Blackstone lived in solitude after selling the whole of Boston for £30. He had left England in 1625 because he could not endure the "Lord's Bishops" and he left Boston in 1634 because he would not endure the "Lord's Brethren".

The name of the wife of Stephen Paine was Rose, according to Savage, but the Paine Family Register gives the name as Neele, who died Jany. 20, 1660. He married second, Alice, the widow of William Parker, according to the Paine Family Register, but his will names his wife, perhaps the third, Elizabeth. He died in Aug. 1679 and was buried Aug. 21, 1679. His will, dated July 18, 1679, was proven at Plymouth Oct. 30, 1679 and disposes of an estate valued at £6733:15:10 including "very desperate debts at Boston", and £3000 in "boards at the Sawmill".

PAINÉ.

SAMUEL PAINE, SON of Stephen Paine Jr. and Ann Chickering, was born May 12, 1662, in Rehoboth. He married Anne Peck dau. of Samuel Peck and Sarah Hunt, Dec. 16, 1685. They had eight children born in Rehoboth. She died in Rehoboth Feby. 26, 1702-3. In 1695 he bought 200 acres of land in Pomfret, Conn., from Major James Fitch. May 15, 1708, he exchanged his Rehoboth farm for John Lyon's Woodstock farm of 140 acres and with his children removed to Woodstock. The next year he married Abigail, widow of Joseph Frizzell and dau. of William Bartholomew. When four years old she, with sixteen others, was captured by Indians and taken from Hatfield to Canada and ransomed from captivity eight months later by payment of £200. She bore him two children.

In 1709 Samuel Paine and Nathaniel Sanger were appointed "to go to the Borderers and see what they will subscribe to Mr. Dwights Salary." In 1719 he was one of committee on location of new meeting house and in Apl. 1723 he signs a protest against a vote "that the school house shall not be finished." In his will dated June 7, 1720, he named his ten children. Two or three years later he became helpless and his son Daniel cared for him until his death on May 11, 1735. The four older brothers in 1728 conveyed to Daniel all their prospective shares in their father's estate "Taking into our Just and Serious Consideration The Good Services of our Loving Brother Daniel Pain of Woodstock, Yeoman in Labouring for and Taking Care of our Honored Father for near about Six years before the date hereof—And also taking into our consideration what our said Father hath heretofore advanced to us Respectively for our Settlement in The World, And also in consideration of the very unhappy Circumstances our said Father is now under and which he has been in for a Long time and which we fear he may still continue in which will call for the Especial Care of the said Daniell Pain for the future * * *."

Samuel Paine received from his father's estate "The old horse." His grandfather Stephen Paine, Sr. bequeathed to him a farm in Rehoboth and sixty acres of upland and £50 in goods. His father-in-law Samuel Peck bequeathed to him 50 acres of land and his brother Benjamin gave him £21:01:02. He lies buried beside his wife Abigail on Woodstock Hill.

DANIEL PAINE, son of Sammel Paine and Anne Peck, was born in Rehoboth Feby 22, 1702. His mother died the following year and five years later his father removed to Woodstock and married Abigail Bartholomew Frizzell. He married Leah Smith of Barrington after publication of intention made Sept. 26, 1729, and Feby 6, 1731-2 they "owned the covenant." He was a farmer and a land surveyor, occupying the homestead which his father bought from John Lyon. He piously cared for his afflicted father in his declining years and there he died, sixty years later, June 22, 1795, at the ripe age of 93 years. After the death of his father in 1735 his half brother Ebenezer married and moved to West Woodstock and the widow Abigail left the homestead and went to live there. In 1741 Daniel placed sixty pounds in the hands of Ebenezer towards the maintenance of his step mother, taking a bond for security, which was witnessed by Ebenezer Smith Jr. and Benjamin Frizzell.

Sept. 14, 1743, The legislature of Mass. incorporated "The West Parish of Woodstock." A division line was run and established between the East and West parts Oct. 19, 1743 by Capt. John May, Jabez Lyon and Lieut. Daniel Paine with the aid of Capt. William Chandler as surveyor. In 1771 Capt. Daniel Paine was one of five appointed to examine the financial condition of the town.

JOHN PAINE,
My Father's Father.

PAINE.

JOHN PAINE, son of Daniel Paine and Elizabeth Williams was born in West Woodstock Sept. 13, 1776. His father died the following April and his mother a little later. He went to live with his Aunt Anna Paine Chandler, who was childless, and grew to maturity under her care. Capt. Sammel Chandler had a large farm in the north eastern part of Woodstock which he gave to his widow upon his death in 1790 and which she gave to her nephew three years before her death in 1811.

This farm was purchased by Capt. Chandler from Isaac Fellows and his wife Leah, the sister of Mrs. Anna Paine Chandler. After the death of Capt. Chandler and probably because of the marriage of "Aunt Anna" to the Rev. Josiah Whitney of Brooklyn, Conn., he returned to W. Woodstock.

Josiah Whitney was born in Plainfield, Conn., Aug. 11, 1731, was graduated at Yale College in 1752 and joined, with his wife Anna, in the deed to her nephew, John Paine, in consideration of love and affection, dated Oct. 9, 1807, acknowledged Nov. 5, 1807, and recorded Aug. 15, 1808 by Jedidiah Morse, Register. This deed is still kept in the old home.

When the Rev. Alvan Underwood was ordained and installed in W. Woodstock May 21, 1801, John Paine was on the com. of society "to attend on and see to seating people and to keeping order and regularity in the assembly of spectators".

He married, Nov. 13, 1805, Betsey, dau. of Ebenezer Smith and Margaret Bowen. He kept a store in West Woodstock a few years. There his first child, Sammel Chandler, was born. In 1808 he moved to the house given him by his Aunt Anna, where three generations of his descendants have since been born. He added to the farm, in later years, the Brock lot on the south and the Phipps lot on the north. In 1815 he was one of the incorporators of the Muddy Brook Cotton Mfg. Co.

Squire Paine was a portly man of imposing appearance. He was Justice of the Peace, Judge of Probate, and Representative to the Legislature, and an active and influential man in town affairs. He was a strong abolitionist, and his house was a station on the Underground Railroad running from Dixie to Canada. My mother used to say that she never saw a nobler sight than Squire Paine starting off in the evening or early morning, towards the north, with his horse and carriage, and with a poor black slave by his side on the road to freedom.

Betsey Paine died Nov. 22, 1826, and he married second, Lucy Smith, her sister, Jan. 24, 1828. Lucy had no children. She was, however, a devoted mother to her sister's children, and an ideal grandmother to the next generation. John Paine died from sunstroke or apoplexy July 10, 1846, and lies buried beside his two wives in East Woodstock. Lucy continued to live in the same house, together with her two unmarried sisters, Dolly and Hannah, until a few months before her death which occurred April 9, 1872.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH OF EAST WOODSTOCK.

Erected 1832, with Memorial Chapel, erected 1895, by Dea. Geo. T. Bixby, in memory of his son Halcey Greene Bixby, who died while a student in Amherst College.

PAINE.

JOHN PAINE, son of John Paine and Betsey Smith, was born in East Woodstock, Jan'y. 12, 1812. He attended Woodstock Academy in 1831, and taught school several terms.

He married, May 16, 1836, Mary Ann, dau. of Chester May and Hannah Lyman. He began married life on the Water's farm lately occupied by his son-in-law Dea. George T. Bixby. After two years he bought a farm in Brimfield, Mass., where he lived five years and where his two daughters were born. Returning upon invitation of his father he took charge of the home farm in 1843, and, after the death of his father in 1846, he purchased it from his four brothers and sister and arranged with his stepmother for her dower rights. By honesty, industry, frugality, forethought and great strength of mind and body, he prospered, paid for the farm, and accumulated a competence, which was heroically diminished by the outlay necessary to pay the expenses of two sons through college. For a period of forty years he filled many offices of trust and honor in church and state, but did not allow public affairs to interfere with private duties. He was Representative to the Legislature in 1858. He held such offices as Selectman, Assessor, Agent of the Town Deposit Fund, and School Visitor, many times, and was executor and administrator of many estates.

He was Director of the First National Bank of Putnam for many years and was Deacon in the Congregational Church in East Woodstock from 1872 until his death. He had previously declined the office of deacon because his boys were growing and he was not sure that he was qualified as required by St. Paul: "Ruling their children and their own houses well." His children had no such doubts of his qualifications. Our father stood five feet ten inches in height and his ordinary weight was one hundred and ninety pounds, and his children easily recognized the fact that he was the head of the house. Mother sometimes remarked that a father was a great help in bringing up a family. It was certainly true in that house. One flash of his eye to an offender was like lightning from Mount Sinai.

Father was an acceptable teacher in the Sunday School and was very familiar with the Bible, reading a chapter in course every morning at family prayers; and twice on Sunday, reading from Scott's Commentaries, not omitting the "Practical Observations". He was generally able, when quizzed by his children, to name the book of the Bible containing any verse they might read to him. Men servants and maid servants were expected to attend the family devotions, and no pressure of work, nor haste to catch a train, was sufficient to cause an omission of the daily chapter and prayer.

He was an excellent reader and speller, and during my childhood was usually called upon to read a sermon in church when the pastor was ill or out of town and no other preacher present. The three-seated wagon could carry nine, and the buggy could take three, and for many years the Congregational Church in East Woodstock could be reasonably sure of eight or ten worshippers every Sunday from father's house without regard to heat or cold, rain or shine.

He had a keen sense of humor and his laugh was hearty and contagious. A native of Woodstock who had been absent for twenty years remarked that his greatest reason for desiring to visit Woodstock was that he might hear Mr. John Paine laugh.

The impressions of childhood are confirmed in maturity that our father was essentially a strong man; strong mentally, morally, physically. In 1881 he began to show signs of waning powers of body. One hand began to shake when relaxed, then both hands, then his feet. For eight years his ever increasing infirmity continued and the "shaking palsy" never allowed him a moment of repose, except in sleep; but no word of complaint ever passed his lips, only at rare intervals an expression of unutterable weariness. He continued his interest in things about him almost to the last, and was tenderly and devotedly cared for by his wife and his two faithful children, Mary and John. His strong frame yielded gradually to the inevitable, and he sank to rest July 14, 1889, in the same house in which he was born.

"Happy he whom neither wealth nor fashion,
Nor the march of the encroaching city,
Drives an exile
From the hearth of his ancestral homestead."

After fifty-three years of married life, enriched with the advent of six children, the head of the household was the first to break the family circle. Happy are those who remain in the memory of such a father. Truly "the glory of children are their fathers."

CHICKERING.

FRANCIS CHICKERING was the son of Henry Chickering of Ringsfield, Suffolk Co., Eng., who died in 1627. In the time of Henry VIII, Thomas Chickering of Wymondham, Norfolk Co., died leaving a widow Clare and three children. The eldest, Stephen, by his wife Anne, had five sons and two daughters and died in 1576. His eldest son, Henry, had five sons and two daughters, of whom Francis and his eldest brother Henry came to America in 1635 and settled in Dedham, Mass., where Francis was made freeman May 13, 1640. He joined the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Co. in 1643 and was chosen ensign. He was elected a Representative to the General Court in 1644 and 1653.

He was chosen deacon of the first church in 1650 and delayed some time to accept his appointment on account of his affection and relation to Mr. Phillips in England. He was the largest land owner in the town in his day. His wife Ann was the daughter of John Fiske of St. James Parish in So. Elmham, Suffolk Co., Eng. She died Dec. 5, 1649, and he married June 11, 1650, Sarah, widow of John Sibley. She survived him and married John Bowles. Mr. Chickering died Oct. 2, 1658, and his good estate went chiefly to his five daughters.

JOSEPH PECK came from Old Hingham in 1638 with 132 other Puritans and his brother Robert Peck, their pastor, in the "Diligent" (John Martin, Master) bringing his second wife, two sons, one dau., two men servants and three maid servants and settled in New Hingham. He was the son of Robert Peck and Helen Babbs of Beccles, Suffolk Co., Eng., where he was baptized Apl. 30, 1587. He was a descendant in the 21st generation of John Peck of Belton, Yorkshire. His first wife, Rebecca Clark, whom he married May 21, 1617, died Oct. 24, 1637. The name of his second wife is not known. He was made freeman March 13, 1638-9, and was chosen representative to the General Court in 1639, 40, 41 and 42.

In 1641 he was one of the purchasers of Seaconk from Massasoit, and Gov. Bradford granted the same land, eight miles square, which was incorporated as Rehoboth. He removed there in 1645, losing three horses and goods of £50 value by the burning of an Indian wigwam where he stopped for shelter on the journey. He was Selectman, Assessor and Justice of the Peace. He was rated the same as Stephen Paine, £535, only one being larger.

"Plymouth, July 3, 1656. The Court have appointed and deputed Mr. Joseph Pecke to administer marriage at Rehoboth: and the said Mr. Pecke, Mr. Stephen Paine and Richard Bowen are appointed and authorized to hear and determine all controversies there between any, so as it amount not to above the value of three pounds."

He died Dec. 23, 1663, aged 77 years. His will divided a large property among his children, Joseph, John, Nicholas, Samuel, Nathaniel and Israel and dau. Hubbert. "I do ordain my son Nicholas and my son Samuel the executors of this my last will, desiring the Lord to guide their hartes to do all according unto my intent heer sett down." His six sons signed an agreement for distribution of the estate according to the will as amplified by their father upon his death bed, but not expressed in the writing, with Stephen Paine, Thomas Cooper and John Reed as witnesses.

Aug. 9, 1689, Samuel Peck and Thomas Cooper were chosen deputies from Rehoboth and were instructed to endeavor "to procure from the worshipful Major Bradford a quit claim deed to the lands in the town of Rehoboth." The deed was obtained. It recites Letters Patent to the late William Bradford my honored father, and a deed from him in 1641 to Joseph Peck, Stephen Paine, Henry Smith, Alexander Winchester, Thomas Cooper, Gent. and others, and then quit claims all interest to Daniel Smith, Esq^r., Capt. Peter Hunt, Capt. John Brown, Esq^r., John Peck, Lieut. "my two oxen called Bucke and Duke and two cowes, my cart and one of my little plowes; my bedstead in the parlour chamber; my silver beaker and silver spoons and one gould ringe which was his mother's and also one pair of fine Holland sheets and one diaper table cloth and six diaper napkins, 2 fine pillow beares and the feather bed and bolster and pillow and two blankets whereon I now lye; my second rugg with some other small linnene in my trunk in the parlor and the other chist under the window in the parlor and my best curtains and curtain rods."

SMITH.

EBENEZER SMITH, son of James Smith and Elizabeth Holbrook, was born in Weymouth Feby 10, 1693. In 1724 in Barrington he was chosen tythingman (a kind of Sunday Constable whose special duty it was in the old parish meeting house to quiet the restlessness of youth and to disturb the slumbers of age). In 1726 he was chosen hog reeve of Barrington. In 1727 he was chosen constable. On Dec. 23, 1721 he received from his father a deed to 25 acres of land in Barrington. He married Sarah Tiffany about 1720 and removed to Woodstock about 1730. He died May 3, 1777 in the 87th year of his age, as appears by his grave stone on Bungee Hill, which would fix his birth at some date between May 1690 and May 1691, which must be erroneous.

Children: Ebenezer, Hezekiah, Sarah, Sue.

LEAH SMITH, dau. of James Smith and Elizabeth Holbrook was born in 1710 about the time of her father's removal from Weymouth to Barrington. She married Daniel Paine of Woodstock, Dec. 4, 1729 and bore him seven children. She lies buried beside her husband on Woodstock Hill.

EBENEZER SMITH, son of Ebenezer Smith and Sarah Tiffany, was born in Barrington in 1721 or 1722 and with his parents removed to Woodstock about 1730. His name appears as witness to a bond given by Ebenezer Paine to Daniel Paine in 1741. He was married May 19, 1743, to Dorothy dau. of John Child and Abigail Aspinwall. In 1760 he was selectman and in 1764 representative to the General Assembly of Com. He died Sept. 9, 1767.

in a clear and beautiful handwriting. The four children who died in April, 1766 were victims of black tongue or putrid sore throat, now called diphtheria, if I remember the tradition correctly. The record of their deaths could hardly have been written by other than a parent, and the father's name follows in the same handwriting:

“Esther Died Saturday night 40 m after 11 Clock y^e 19th of April 1766.

Rachel Died on Monday about Sunset y^e 21st day of April 1766.

Dorothy died on Tuesday about 8 o'clock at night y^e 22d day of April 1766.

Eben^r Smith Esq^r Died on Wednesday the 9th day of September 1767 in the 46th year of his age.”

EBENEZER SMITH son of Ebenezer Smith and Dorothy Child was born in Woodstock, May 18, 1748. He married June 18, 1772 Margaret dau. of Capt. Matthew Bowen and Mary Dana. He was fond of riding horseback and rode well. A neighbor who was a representative to the legislature at Hartford once remarked that he would come home (forty miles) every night, if he could ride a horse as well as Squire Smith. In 1775 he responded to the Lexington Alarm and served five days as a trooper under Capt. Samuel McClellan, who led six military companies, 189 men, from Woodstock to Boston, forty-five being cavalymen with horses.

At town meeting June 26, 1789, Col. McClellan, Capt. Daniel Lyon and Mr. Ebenezer Smith were appointed a committee to confer with the militia companies then convened for recruits at a bounty of forty shillings per month.

He was chosen Nov. 17, 1788, to act on a committee to repair the meeting house and was tax collector the same year. He acted as clerk at the organization of the Theft Detecting Society in 1793 and is called “Major.” He was representative in 1796 and was one of the incorporators of Woodstock Academy in 1801.

He was a Justice of the Peace and the docket kept by him from 1799 to 1815 is now before me. The book is bound in calf and well preserved. The ink is black and the writing easy to read. It contains about two hundred cases mostly civil, but the criminal cases are more interesting, for example:

“State of Connecticut	{	At a Court held at Woodstock y ^e
vs.		20th day of Sept ^r 1802 by Eben ^r Smith,
John Martin

Justice of Peace, John Martin being Before this Court on Grand juror's Complaint for Breach of Sabbath by Raking and Carting Hay on ye 15th day of August Last. After being fully heard, it is the Judgment of this Court that he is guilty and that he pay a fine of one Dollar & 67 Cents and Cost Taxed at 84 cents. Judgment Satisfied in full.

peck of Rock Salt of the value of one dollar. He was fined one dollar, and cost taxed at 50 cents.

On March 12, 1805, Abbott Fisher, Jun. was fined $3.34 and costs taxed at $2.47 for playing at cards.

On Sept. 9, 1808, Charles Martin 2nd pleaded guilty on a Grand juror's complaint for theft, and was fined $3 and costs $2.65 "and be further punished by whipping on his naked Body five stripes." "Execution issued Sept. 9, 1808, and his note of hand taken for fine & costs and publicly whipped five stripes."

On Sept. 8, 1810, Zephaniah Tucker on a plea of "Guilty" of Profane Swearing was fined one dollar and costs $3.31.

Among my earliest recollections is a visit to the Smith homestead (long known as Smith's Tavern, at the junction of the Range Road and the Connecticut Path, about midway between West and South Woodstock) then occupied by Mr. Dwight Smith and family and his sister Miss Esther Smith, cousins of my father, and later by Mr. O'Brien. I particularly remember blind Jimmy or Jin (probably Virginia) an aged negro woman, a former servant, perhaps a descendant of Quash and Moll, cared for and cherished as a member of the family with no thought of sending her to the poor house in her age and helplessness.

Justice Smith was a man of considerable importance in Woodstock and died respected and beloved Feby 11, 1825.

MY ANCESTORS.

MICHAEL PIERCE resided in Hingham in 1645, afterwards in Scituate. In 1647 he purchased land in Conihasset. In 1666 he was elected Lient. but not confirmed by the Colony Court as "he is a stranger to us." In 1673 he was Ensign in a Company raised by Plymouth Colony to fight the Dutch, of which Company Miles Standish was Captain, altho in 1669 he had been commissioned as Captain of the local militia of Scituate. "Captain Michael Pierce has left evidence on record in the Town of his usefulness in publick affairs, but his memory is to be forever honored for the brave manner in which he fell in defense of his country." (Deane.) "He was in the Narragansett fight in December 1675, and escaped with his life but to fall in a more terrible conflict in the March following."

"The Narragansetts early in Spring of 1676, had committed ravages in Rhode Island and had killed some inhabitants of Plymouth. On this alarm Capt. Michael Pierce of Scituate with 50 English and 20 friendly Indians from Cape Cod was ordered to pursue the Indians towards R. I. He proceeded without any rencontre near to Pawtucket—that part called Attleboro Gore when he discovered that there were Indians near him, but not suspecting that Canonchett was there with all the collected force of the Narragansetts, he therefore ventured to cross the river and commence the attack, but soon found himself in the presence of an overwhelming force. To fly was impossible and to retreat in order before such an enemy was equally desperate. His only recourse was to fall back to the river's bank to avoid being surrounded and then make the sacrifice of himself and his brave men as costly as possible to the foe. But the Indians sent a party across the river to attack in the rear. This surprise only induced the Capt. to change the front of half of his company and place them back to back, and in this position they fought until nearly every man fell and with a bravery like that at Thermopylae and deserving of as great success. Capt. Pierce fell earlier than many others. It was little consolation to learn that this brave band had killed thrice their own number."

His will is dated Jan'y 15, 1675 and begins: "Being by the appointment of God going out to war against the Indians I do ordain this my last will and testament, and first I commit my ways to the Eternal God." He gives wife Ann "the house which I last built," to son Benj. my present dwelling house, to son John all my lands in Hingham, to son Ephraim 5£, to dau. Abigail Holbrook 5£, to daus. Elizabeth Deborah, Ann, Abiah, Ruth, Persis, 50£ each. His first wife, name unknown, died at Hingham, Dec. 31, 1662. A few years later he married Ann

He also bought a house and six acres in Newton from William Clemens. He married about 1659 Joanna, dan. of Dea. William Ward of Sudbury, and after the birth of two children, he sold his place to Gregory Cooke and removed to Marlboro about 1665, where he erected, near Belcher's Pond, and kept a public house long known as "William's Tavern." He was made freeman there in 1666 and was chosen Representative to the General Court from Marlboro in 1679-81 and died there Dec. 29, 1712.

He disposed of his estate by deed of gift dated Dec. 18, 1711:

"And because God hath taken away my eldest son and proper heir * * * and having left with me one only son I reckon him my proper heir in his father's room; and accordingly do give and grant to him as first born, viz: Abraham Williams, together with his uncle John Williams all the rest of my estate. * * * I desire and pray my three beloved friends, my son-in-law Thomas Beman my brother Samuel Ward and my cousin Joseph Stratton to be overseers and people in trust to see to the fulfilling of those gifts * * * according to the premises, for my wife, John and Abraham. And when God shall take either of us away, to allow a decent and Christian burial, without weeds or flourishes, for our fathers and mothers had none."

WILLIAM WILLIAMS, son of Abraham Williams and Joanna Ward, was born probably in Cambridge about 1662. He married about 1691 Elizabeth Larkin, dau. of Thomas Larkin and Hannah Remington. He lived with or near his father in Marlboro, perhaps assisting in the care of the "Williams Tavern." His father says: "We traded together with corn and cattle, and so he had his part of all our income." He died at Marlboro Aug. 30, 1702, ten years before his father, leaving an only son, Abraham. Another son, Thomas, was born Sept. 10, 1692, and lived only nine days.

MY ANCESTORS.

HENRY BRIGHT was baptised at Bury St. Edmunds, Suffolk Co. Eng. Dec. 29, 1602. He was son of Henry Bright, (1560-1609) who was son of Thomas Bright, (1534-1587) who was son of Walter Bright (1500-1551). He came to America about 1630 and was the forty eighth subscriber to the covenant of the Charlestown Church in Aug. 1630, but left there the same year with many more and appears next in Watertown where he married Ann, dan. of Henry and Ann Goldstone about 1634. He was a man of good estate and left his native land for the sake of his principles rather than from base respects of property. He was selectman in 1639 and many times afterwards.

In 1640 he was appointed by the General Court to be Surveyor of Arms in Watertown, and was chosen a member of the Court of Assistants in 1684. He received, July 20, 1659, £200 from the estate of his sister Elizabeth Dell of London. She also gave £10 to each of his seven children. He is called Sergeant in the records until 1664 after which he is called Deacon. He died Oct. 9, 1686, from an accident received Oct. 7, 1686, while carrying home chairs which had been used at the ordination of the Rev. John Bailey. Judge Sewall writes: "1686 Thorsday Oct^r. 7 Deacon Bright carrying home chairs &c used at Mr. Baylys, is hurt by his Cart none seeing, so that he dyes Oct^r 9 Satterday. It seems he was the only Officer left in that church. Several of his Ribs broken."

In his will dated Jany 25, 1680, and Codicil dated Oct. 25, 1685, he leaves his silver tankard to his eldest son John and to son Nathaniel "50 shils. in money to purchase him a piece of plate." He gives a silver spoon to dau. Anna and another to dau. Eliza and ten shils. in money to each of the others "to buy silver spoons." Twenty pounds apiece in corn and cattle he gives to his five daus. Anna Ruggles, Eliza Hastings, Mary Coolidge, Abigail Audley and Beriah Fowle. Among other lands mentioned are two hundred acres "sometime my father Goldstone's." HUMPHREY TIFFANY came to America about 1660. The records of Rehoboth show—Jany 22, 1663 "Humphrey Tiffany permitted to be a sojourner and to buy or to hire." He lived in Swansea in 1683. Very little is recorded concerning him.

Samuel Sewall writes in his Diary: Wednesday P. M. July 15, 1685,

"Very dark and great Thunder and Lightning. One Humphrey Tiffany and Frances Low, daughter of Anthony Low, are slain with the Lightning and Thunder about a mile or a mile and a half beyond Billingses Farm, the Horse also slain that they rode on, and another horse in Company slain and his rider who held the garment on the Maid to steady it at the time of the Stroke, a coat or cloak, stounded but not killed. Were coming to Boston. Anthony Low being in Town the Sad Bill was put up with (regards) of that Solemn judgment of God. Fast day Forenoon July 15, 1685, 2 persons, 2 horses."

On Oct. 27, 1685 at a General Court at Plymouth, Gov. Thomas Hincley granted administration to Elizabeth, the relict of Humphrey Tiffany, deceased.

CONSIDER TIFFANY, son of Humphrey and Elizabeth Tiffany was born probably in Rehoboth about 1670. He married Abigail Niles Aug. 27, 1696, and lived in New Shoreham, R. I. where his children's births are recorded. The History of the Tiffany family is quite incorrect in respect to this man and the children named on page 140 of the History, are probably the children of his brother Ephraim's son Consider who was born Apl. 28, 1703, at New Shoreham.

BOWEN.

GRIFFITH BOWEN, son of Francis Bowen and Ellen Franklin, was born about 1590, probably at Slade or Burryhead in the County of Glamorgan, Wales. He was a man of some importance, descended through the Bowen's of Slade from Beli Mawr King of Britian in the year 55 B. C. In the 14th year of Charles I (1638) he sold his estates in Wales. He is described in the deeds as of Oxwich in the County of Glamorgan, Gentleman. In 1640 he gave a bond in which he is described as "late of Langenith," otherwise Llangenydd. With his wife Margaret, daughter of Henry Fleming of Llanrhidian, and six children he left Wales and arrived in Boston in 1638. His first appearance is in the records of the first Church in Boston: "Taken in for members of ye congregation the 6th of ye same 12th month (1638) Griffyn Bowen & his wife Margaret." He received a great Lott at Muddy River March 25, 1639. Was made freeman May 22, 1639. Was one of the jury Oct. 3, 1639. In 1649 he sailed for Great Britian with his wife and several of his children. His later years were clouded with monetary difficulties, imprisonment and litigation with his eldest son and others. The time and place of his death are not certainly known. No administration of his estate has been found in Great Britian, but letters were granted to his son Henry in Boston Apl. 17, 1676. His estate in Suffolk Co. was appraised at £535 by William Davis and Edward Morris. Among the credits of the estate were one yeares rent paid by Benjamin Childe and one yeares rent paid by Joshua Childe. His estate was divided and settled Feby 21, 1683.

JOHNSON.

“John Johnson, the Surveyor General of the Ammunition, a very industrious and faithful man in his place, having built a fair house in the midst of the town with divers barns and other outhouses, it fell on fire in the day-time, no man knowing by what occasion, and there being in it seventeen barrels of the country’s powder and many arms, all was suddenly burnt and blown up to the value of 4 or £500. This loss of our powder was the more observable in two respects; 1st, Because the court had not taken that care they ought to pay for it, having been owing for divers years, 2nd, In that at the court before, they had refused to help our countrymen in Virginia who had written to us for some for their defence against the Indians, and also to help our brethren of Plimouth in their want.” (Winthrop.)

Sept. 10, 1653, the court confirmed the promotion of "Serjant John Boles of Roxbury to the place of ensign."

In the remonstrance of Roxbury against the surrender of the Royal Charter he signed second to Rev. John Eliot Oct. 28, 1664. He was a ruling elder and a leading member of the Mass. Society for colonizing New England and was a warm friend of the Apostle Eliot, who said of him "Prudent and gracious man set over our churches for the assistance of their pastors, such help in government had he (Eliot) been blessed withal, the best of which was the well-deserving Elder Bowles. God helps him to do great things."

He was killed "by a cart wheele running over his body" Sept. 21, 1680, and was buried Sept. 24. His will dated Aug. 22 and probated Oct. 5, makes his son John executor, and names wife Sarah, dau. Elizabeth White and dau. Mary Gardner and gives 20 shillings to Rev. John Eliot "in token of my love and service due to him."

His first wife Dorothy died of small pox 3 Nov. 1649 and was buried the same day leaving no children. He married second Elizabeth dau. of Elder Isaac Heath Apl. 2, 1650. She bore children and died July 6, 1655. He married third Sarah, widow of Francis Chickering, as she had before been of John Sibley. She survived him until Sept. 2, 1686. By her will dated 21 June, 1681, she gives equal portions to her brother Joseph How., her sons Daniel Smith Esq^r, Samuel Newman, Thomas (John) Metcalf, William Symmes, a double portion to son Mr. John Bowles and equal portions to dau. Mary Gardner, sons Thomas Gardner, John White, and Timothy Dwight.

ELIZABETH BOWLES dau. of John Bowles and Elizabeth Heath, was born in Roxbury Feby. 3, 1651. She was married about 1670 to Lieut. John White of Brookline and died Jany. 7, 1699-1700 aged 48 years.

HEATH.

ISAAC HEATH was born in Nazing, England about 1585. He came in the "Hopewell" in 1635 and settled in Roxbury where he was made freeman in 1636. He was Representative to the Gen. Ct. in 1637-8. About the same time he was made ruling elder, a special recognition of his prudence, wisdom and godliness. The ruling elder occupied an elevated seat between the deacon's seat and the pulpit and continued in office through life. He assisted the Apostle Eliot in his Indian labors, accompanying him in his toilsome expeditions through the wilderness and expounding the gospel to the natives.

He was delegate from Roxbury with Eliot and the Rev. Sam'l Danforth to the counsel at Boston Sept. 26, 1659, which heard the grievances of the "withdrawers" including Gov. John Webster and John Marsh from the "rigid handling of the Rev. Sam'l Stone of the First Church of Hartford." His homestead of three acres was on S. W. corner of Roxbury and Vernon Sts. He was by occupation a harness maker. The free school of Roxbury was established by an agreement signed by the inhabitants Aug. 3, 1645, binding their lands to the payment of a yearly sum. Among the names are:

John Johnson	00:13:00
Isaac Heath	00:11:00
Daniel Brewer	00:05:00
Isaac Johnson	00:04:00
John Bowles	00:04:00
John Leavinuz	00:03:04
Christopher Peake	00:02:06
John Mays	00:02:00
Edward Bridge	00:02:00

He died Jany. 21, 1660, aged 75 "of a sore throat being of ye issue of his cold with fever." None of his household survived him, except his aged wife and his son-in-law John Bowles, whose children were his only descendants. By his will dated 1660, 19th of 11th, two days before his death, he gave 256 acres of land "to ye schoole in Roxburie." The records show that at a date between 1636 and 1640 he was the proud owner of 12 goats and 7 kidds, while John Johnson only had 6 goats and 4 kids. His wife and dau. bore the name of Elizabeth.

ELIZABETH HEATH was born in Eng. about 1620. She was married Apl. 2, 1650, to Elder John Bowles, being his second wife and died July 6, 1655, "of an epidemical sicknes and faintness" having borne four children.

JOHN MAY was born in England, probably in Mayfield, Sussex County, about 1590. He was master of "The James" which sailed between London and New England as early as 1635. He settled in Roxbury about 1640 and became a member of John Eliot's church. He was made freeman June 2, 1641. The death of his first wife is recorded by the apostle Eliot on the Church records of Roxbury: "June 18, 1651. This day died Sister Mayes, a very gracious and savory Christian."

He died Apl. 28, 1670, leaving his second wife Sarah and the two sons who came with him from England. His will dated Sabbath morning four days before his death mentions his house and several pieces of land, and also his carpenter's tools.

JOHN MAY, son of John May and Sarah Brewer, was born in Roxbury May 19, 1663. In the Suffolk County Probate Records is this entry, dated Sept. 8, 1680: "John Watson and Henry Bowen appointed guardians to John Mays, Elisha Mays and Ephraim Mays, three sons of John Mays sometime of Roxbury deceased." He married June 2, 1684, Prudence, dau. of John Bridge and Prudence Robinson. He was selectman of Roxbury and deacon in the church. He had a large estate at Jamaica Plain and a "lot of land lying in that part of Woodstock commonly called 'Oldtown Hall', lying near Black ponds'."

In 1723 John May of Roxbury, yeoman, for parental love, etc. deeds to John May of Woodstock a tract of land described as follows: "In the North half of Woodstock 2nd lot of 2nd range of 1st Division of Lots, containing 41 $\frac{3}{4}$ acres etc." In his will, dated Nov. 1, 1729, is the following: "Item, I give and bequeath to my beloved eldest son John, who hath already received £115:1:6 onward of his portion, £44:18:6 more—

JOHN MAY, son of John May and Prudence Bridge, was born in Roxbury Nov. 23, 1686. He removed to Woodstock Dec. 15, 1710, having purchased from Henry Bowen on Nov. 25, 1710, Lott 38 in Woodstock, which lot was drawn by Henry Bowen at a town meeting held in Roxbury Apl. 26, 1695, and contained 73 acres. Having built a house the next year he returned to Roxbury for a wife and married, Dec. 18, 1711, Elizabeth, dan. of Joshua Child and Elizabeth Morris of Brookline.

In 1708 he began to keep a record of events in the form of a ledger account of work done for various people, but the record soon changed into a diary which generally gave but one line to a day and was kept continuously in one small book for about nine years, the earliest entry being June 8, 1708 and the latest consecutive entry being May 11, 1717. The latter portion is filled with accounts, many without dates, and memoranda, including the record of the births of his children. This choice relic is now in the possession of his namesake, Mr. John May, 1868, of East Woodstock, son of Chas. Harris 1823, son of Asa 1793, son of Ephraim 1759, son of Stephen 1721, who was fifth child of John 4th 1686. I will select a few items :

In 1743 Capt. John May, Jabez Lyon and Lieut. Daniel Paine applied to be incorporated as a separate precinct under name of West Parish. In 1749 John May, Isaac Johnson and Henry Bowen (Principal Inhabitants in s^d Society) directed Mr. Caleb Lyon to warn all the inhabitants of the First Church Society of Woodstock to meet on the 21st day of September "to form themselves in Society order."

At a town meeting July 28, 1749, Woodstock chose officers for the first time as a Comm. town, having previously been under the jurisdiction of Mass. John May was chosen moderator, Henry Bowen town clerk and first selectman, John May fifth selectman. Nine men then took the freeman's oath, among whom were John Morse, Benjamin Child, Henry Bowen and Daniel Paine. At the next town meeting Sept. 12, 1749, Thomas Chandler and Henry Bowen were chosen representatives to the General Assembly of Comm. and 74 freemen were admitted among whom were John May, John Child, Jr., William Child, Ebenezer Smith 1st and 2nd and Jedidiah Morse.

At a meeting of proprietors March 16, 1756, Capt. John May was chosen moderator and clerk, and it was voted that Capt. Jabez Lyon, Capt. John May and Mr. Nathaniel Child be the committee for prosecuting trespassers in the cedar swamp and commons.

He served his generation in many capacities; bridge builder, school teacher, deacon and captain of Woodstock's Second Company at the time of the Land Bank Secession. He also led the singing in Church after he was sixty years of age and became involved in trouble.

Capt. Payson complained that Dea. May had publicly accused him of opposing him in tuning or setting the psalm, and then had denied it. After formal investigation it was adjudged that Brother Payson had manifested "signs of uneasiness" on such occasions, which was all Dea. May meant by his assertion.

In the center of the cemetery in East Woodstock is a grave stone with this inscription.

THOMAS MAY, son of John May and Elizabeth Child, was born Feby 14, 1723-4. He married Apl. 26, 1753, Lucy Child, dan. of William Child and Deborah Goddard. He was one of a committee of ten appointed in Woodstock to receive and transmit donations to Boston when the British were trying to starve the city into submission and payment for certain watered tea in 1774. The committee sent sixty five fat sheep.

He was a Sergeant in Capt. Matthew Bowen's company of soldiers in Col. Chapman's regiment and was mustered into service Aug. 4, 1778 and was engaged under Brig. Gen. John Tyler in the battle of Rhode Island Aug. 29, 1778, attempting to dislodge the British from Newport. He was discharged Sept. 12, 1778. In 1780 Nov. 13, at town meeting he was appointed one of three to collect a special tax, payable in beef, pork and flour, to inspect and mark the same and make return to his Excellency the Governor.

He was deacon in the church in East (then known as North) Woodstock and his name appears third on the list of subscribers to the permanent fund for the support of Congregational worship in the North Society in 1779. If he could have foreseen the quarrels over that fund perhaps he would have withheld his name.

At the town meeting in 1785, Jedidiah Morse was chosen town clerk and treasurer; Thomas May one of the seven selectmen; Ebenezer Smith collector and Silas May one of the seven grand jurors. He died Aug. 7, 1803 and lies buried beside his wife in East Woodstock.

Silas May and Ebenezer Smith were the representatives of Woodstock in the General Assembly in 1796. The Theft Detecting Society of Woodstock was organized in 1793 with Gen. McClellan acting as Chairman and Major Ebenezer Smith as clerk. Messrs. Elijah Williams, Ebenezer Smith, Hezekiah Bugbee, William Graves and Silas May were deputed "to form and draw articles for the Society." Meetings were held quarterly alternating between Williams' tavern and that of Silas May. His tavern was the house now occupied by his great grandson Mr. Chester E. May in East Woodstock.

MAY.

MARY ANN MAY, dau. of Chester May and Hannah Lyman, was born June 4, 1812, in the house now occupied by her nephew Mr. Chester E. May, about fifty rods east of the church in East Woodstock. She taught school one term in the Bugbee district, and although she never wandered far from the place of her birth, her mind and soul and sympathies were ever world-wide and heaven-high. She was married by the Rev. Orson Cowles in Hartford, Conn., May 16, 1836, to John Paine, son of John Paine and Betsey Smith, and bore him six children.

She died March 14, 1899. A little later the following tribute appeared in the "ADVOCATE AND FAMILY GUARDIAN," published in New York City, the organ of the pioneer child-saving institution in this country:

Passed beyond. At East Woodstock, Conn. on Tuesday, March 14th, 1899, Mary Ann Paine, widow of the late John Paine peacefully passed from earth to her home beyond. Born in 1812, married in 1836, the mother of six children, she never looked upon a vacant chair at her fireside for fifty-three years, or until 1889, when the husband and father was the first to go. She was next to follow. She did not need the discipline of bereavement to make her heart yearn over the sorrows of others, and a large picture of the "Home for the Friendless" has hung on the wall of her room for many years. She was a constant reader of the Advocate and Guardian almost from its first number, and caused many copies to be sent to others. Thoroughly in sympathy with its purpose, she would frequently point out to her children and friends some good thing she had found in it.

With never a severe sickness, she wonderfully retained all her faculties and dearly loved to sing alone, or with others, the good old songs. Only a few days before her death she sang in a clear, full voice the hymn beginning "I hear Thy welcome voice." Her absent children were blessed from time to time with letters, full of motherly love and solicitude, and marvels of penmanship to the last.

Of a quiet and retiring disposition, she nevertheless was able to "preach the gospel to every creature" who came within the sphere of her influence. No guest or servant could remain long under her roof without realizing that Christ was her personal friend and Saviour, and that she was "so anxious not to go to heaven alone." Her Bible was the chart for each day's voyage, and she never thought of heaven as an unknown country. Her Saviour had prepared a place for her and she was ever ready to be summoned home. To a mind well stored with current knowledge she added a mighty wealth of heavenly wisdom and to a heart full of neighborly and family affection she added a supreme love for her Saviour, so that her life was filled with radiance and light. "Her children arise up and call her blessed." L. M. P.

MY ANCESTORS.

EDWARD HOWE was one of the largest original proprietors of Watertown. He was admitted freeman May 14, 1634, was chosen selectman in 1637, '39, '41, '42 and '43. He was deputy from Watertown in May and Sept. 1635, in Sept. and Dec. 1636, and in May 1639; also in 1642 and '43. He was part owner of a mill, of which Matthew Cradock of London was part owner.

"There fell out a case between Mr. Dudley, one of the council, (afterwards Governor) and Mr. Howe, a ruling elder of the church at Watertown, about a title to a mill. The case is too long here to report, but it was so clear on Mr. Dudley's part, both in law and equity, most of the magistrates also and deputies concurring therein, as the elders, being desired to be present at the hearing of the case, they also consented with the judgment of the court, before the case was put to vote, and some of them humbly advised the court that it would be greatly to their dishonor and an apparent injustice, if they should otherwise determine." Governor Bellingham "took upon him to answer all the arguments, but so weakly as many were ashamed at it." (2 Winthrop 5.)

"A General Court held at Boston Dec. 10, '41: Whether the right of present possession of Watertowne mill wch Mr. Howe doth sue for, bee due to him or no? The vote was that it is Mr. Dudleys & not Mr. Hows." (1 Col. Rec. 316.)

He died June 24, 1644, leaving his widow, Margaret, and two daughters: Sufferance, wife of Nathaniel Treadway of Watertown, and Anne, wife of John Stone of Sudbury. His will dated June 13, 1644, was probated July 25, 1644. After some specific legacies, he gives "all the rest of my estate, howsinge, Lands, Chattels & moveable goods & Debts to my wife. If she shall not make use of or dispose of my estate during her life, what she leave, Anne Stone shall have one third part of all ye Cattle; & all ye rest of ye Cattle, howsinge, Lands Debts and moveables I give to Nathaniel Treadaway.

By me Edward How"

"In answer to ye petition of Mrs. Margaret Howe & Nathaniel Treadaway, liberty was granted them to drawe two butts of wyne weh they rec'd for debt, weh they cannot sell without great losse by ye butt. By both howses." 111 Col. Rec. 81.

His widow married George Bunker, constable of Charlestown, "owner of the summit of that immortal hill of glory bearing his name" and by her will dated Apl 8, 1647, proved Dec. 18, 1660, gave one half her estate to Nathaniel Treadway, one third to John Stone and one sixth to her sister Mary Rogers of Bexteath, Eng. "At a very full meeting of the inhabitants of the town of Woodstock legally warned and held at said Woodstock on the 21st day of June 1774, Nathaniel Childs, Esq., was chosen Moderator. The resolves of the House of Rep. of this Colony in May 1774 were read and then voted unanimously:

That the thanks of this town be given to Capt. Elisha Child and Jedidiah Morse, Esq., the representatives of this corporate body for their consenting to and voting the above resolves in conjunction with the other representatives of this colony in General Court assembled—as said resolves do honor to the worthy representatives of a free, loyal and virtuous people, are very expressive of the sentiments of the inhabitants of this town and by them judged necessary in such a day as this when we have the most convincing proof of a fixed and determined plan of the British administration to overthrow the liberties of America and subject these colonies to a bondage that our fathers did not, would not,—fled into the wilderness that they might not, and God grant that we, their posterity never may—bear. * * * Voted that Capt. Elisha Child Charles C. Chandler, Jedidiah Morse, Esqrs. Capt. Samuel McClellan and Nathaniel Child, Esq. be a committee for maintaining a correspondence with the towns of this and the neighboring colonies."

He responded to the Lexington Alarm in 1775, but served only two days. He died Dec. 29, 1819, aged 93.

LYMAN.

ELIPHALET LYMAN, son of Jonathan Lyman and Bethiah Clark, was born in Lebanon March 5, 1754. He graduated at Yale in 1776, studied theology in New Haven and was ordained as pastor at Woodstock Sept. 2, 1779, his first and only charge.

His settlement was £200 with a salary of £70 and twenty cords of firewood annually. He was known to be a firm adherent of the Cambridge platform which was a good recommendation with the sound Puritan faith maintained at Woodstock. In 1815 this church after an opposition of more than 100 years gave in its adherence to the Saybrook platform and joined the Conn. consociation.

During his forty two years of continuous service he was never detained from his pastoral duties on the Lord's day by sickness. He was a very dignified and austere man and his sermons, of which I have one before me, are samples of the strong meat on which our fathers were fed. Apparently he thought well of this one and perhaps this brought him the call to Woodstock, and he even thought it fit to preach at his old home, ten days after his ordination, and a month later in Norwich, while on his wedding journey.

His large illustrated quarto family Bible printed in 1802 is now in my possession and contains his family record and his autograph signature. When Woodstock Academy was founded July 12, 1801, "It was proposed that thirty two men should each contribute the worth of $100. Priest Lyman headed the list and rode all about town and secured the requisite subscribers." It was formally opened Feby 4, 1802 with 100 pupils. Board was five shillings (83 1 3c) per week. Eliphalet Lyman and Ebenezer Smith are named in the charter granted in 1802. Who shall measure the benefits to mankind growing out of such efforts and sacrifices?

In 1820, when a new church building was proposed a committee considered with him the arrears of his salary, and found the amount due with interest to be $3300. He agreed to take $300. in full satisfaction, and an annual salary of $275. in lieu of the original contract for £70 and 20 cords of firewood. When the new church was completed, the society, as is frequently the case, desired a new preacher also, and he resigned in 1821 but was not dismissed until Dec. 15, 1824. He married Oct. 1779 Hamah, dan. of the Rev. Simon Huntington and Hamah Tracy of Norwich and died Feb'y 2, 1836.

Luke XIIIth Ch. 6 & 7 ver read

He spake also this parable: A certain man had a fig-tree planted in his vineyard, & he came & sought fruit thereon, & found none. Then said he unto the keeper of his vineyard, Behold, these three years I come seeking fruit on this fig-tree & find none: cut it down, why cumbereth it the ground? —

It is observable that Christ, while he acted the part of a Prophet in his church, was ever careful to take those methods of instruction, which were well calculated to enlighten & convince the mind. He had to deal with various characters, tempers & dispositions, in the execution of his public office. The main body of the Jews, were, from their education & national prejudices, greatly opposed to him & his doctrine. For a few Centuries before Christ made his appearance, the light of truth was more & more dimmed & obscured by their traditions. Their notions of the Messiah began greatly to be corrupted. The prophecies which pointed him out were falsely interpreted; & by the unjust construction & false glosses put upon them by the idle traditions of the Elders, & the national vanity of the Scribes & Pharisees; the most common idea was, that the Messiah would appear in the

MY ANCESTORS.

HANNAH LYMAN, dau. of Eliphalet Lyman and Hannah Huntington, was born in Woodstock June 15, 1780, somewhat prematurely, as the result of her mother's fall from a horse. She was of very diminutive size at birth and in old age, as I remember her, was small, very wrinkled and without teeth. She was married, Dec. 24, 1806, to Chester May and bore him nine children. After his death in 1854 she kept house with three maiden daughters, and sometimes four; in the house then owned by her son Lyman and since by his son Chester. I enjoyed frequent visits there, and shall always remember her family prayers, largely made up of quotations from Scripture, following a selection from the Bible read by one of my aunts. A few weeks before her death, which occurred June 2, 1865, she suffered greatly from religious doubts and fears, but this was followed by great peace and she passed away in the assurance of a blessed immortality. Her body rests by the side of her husband's in the cemetery in East Woodstock.

MY ANCESTORS.

JOHN WEBSTER came from Warwickshire, Eng. to Salem and thence to Hartford in 1636. He was chosen representative to the first General Court which met in Conn. May 1, 1637. He was also a member of the Court, as well as Thomas Ford of Windsor, when on Jany. 14, 1638-9 the eleven orders were adopted by the magistrates and deputies from Hartford, Wethersfield and Windsor which formed the first constitution of Conn., "the archetype of all modern written constitutions."

He was a member of the court of magistrates in 1639 and continuously until 1655 when he was made deputy governor and the next year he was chosen governor, the fifth governor of Conn. He assisted in forming the noted criminal code, reported and adopted in 1642, afterwards known as blue-laws. He was appointed with Major Gen. John Mason a member of the congress of the United Colonies in 1654.

His name heads a list of sixty, who signed an agreement dated Apl. 18, 1659 for removal into Mass. on account of the religious intolerance of the Rev. Samuel Stone. "The impartial verdict of history must be that the general weight of right and justice was with the defeated and emigrating minority." (Walkers Hist. 1st Ch. Hartford pg. 175.)

About three-fourths of the sixty settled the town of Hadley, comprising what is now Hadley, South Hadley, Granby and Amherst, east of the Conn. River, and Hatfield and part of Williamsburg on the west. He was chosen Judge of court in Hampshire Co. and died at Hadley Apl. 5, 1661. His will dated June 25, 1659, gives the names of four sons, two daus., and two grandchildren. He was married in Eng. to Agnes Shotwell who was living and went with him to Hadley in 1659.

STRONG.

JOHN STRONG was born in Taunton, Eng. about 1608. His father, Richard Strong, was born in Wales in 1561 and removed to Eng. in 1590 and died in 1613. His ancestors were English and went to Wales in 1545. John Strong sailed from Plymouth, Eng., with 140 others, including Thomas Ford and Lieut. William Clark, in the "Mary and John" Mar. 20, 1630 and reached Nantasket May 30, 1630. The company settled at Dorchester. In 1635 he removed to Hingham and in 1638 to Taunton which was called Cohammet until the name was changed by Act of the Colony Mar. 3, 1640. He was one of the seven freemen who took the oath in 1638 and was chosen constable that year and the following. He was chosen deputy to Plymouth in 1641-42-43. He removed to Windsor and on Feby. 14, 1654, with Thomas Ford, was chosen constable; and again Feby. 6, 1656, John Strong was chosen constable "after much contending."

In 1659 he went to Northampton, where he was a leading man in the affairs of the town and church for forty years. He was a tanner and very prosperous. He was ordained ruling elder by the laying on of hands 13:3 mo: '63. His first wife was Margerie dau. of William Deane of South Chard, County of Somerset, Eng., whose will, recorded July 22, 1634, after her death, provides:

She died in England probably, and he married second in Dec., 1630, Abigail, dau. of Thomas Ford, with whom he had crossed the sea. (Walter Deane, brother of Margerie, was the husband of Elder Strong's sister Ellinor.) He died Apl. 14, 1699, in his 92nd year, having had 160 descendants. He divided his estate in his lifetime, giving each dan. £40.

CLARK.

My Brother,
GEORGE ALBERT PAINE.

JOHN CLARK of Saybrook was in Cambridge in 1632, and in Hartford about 1636. He had 22 acres in the first division of lots in 1639. He was a soldier against the Pequot Indians in 1637. In May, 1651, he was desired by the Gen. Court to go with the Governor to Stratford to hold a court and try Goody Bassit for her life (witchcraft). He was admr. of his brother Joseph's estate in 1664. He was a large landholder and was one of the most influential men in the Conn. colony and one of the nineteen named in the famous Charter of King Charles in 1662. He was the first Secretary elected thereafter, and was Deputy to the General Court twenty-one times.

"Sept. 9, 1647, Capt. Mason and Jo: Clark are desired to carry on the building of the Fort, by hiring men or Cartts or other necessaryes. They are aloud to mak vse of the last Rate to be paid by Seabrook." Col. Rec.

His will is dated Feby. 17, 1672, at the beginning and Jany. 19, 1673, at the end and was probated at New Haven. It names: My son John Clark; son (in law) William Pratt; dau. Elizabeth Pratt; dau. Sarah Huntington; and his wife Mary and her dau. Abigail Fletcher. He also had a son Joseph. His widow moved to Farmington and died Jany. 22, 1678. She was dau. of widow Joyce Ward and had been married, March 4, 1640-1 to John Fletcher of Wethersfield who died Apl. 18, 1662, so it is evident that she was not the mother of Clark's married children.

MY ANCESTORS.

SARAH CLARK, dau. of John Clark, was born in 1633 and was married at Saybrook in Oct., 1653, to Dea. Simon, son of Simon Huntington and Margaret Baret. She died in Norwich in 1721 having borne ten children.

WILLIAM GAGER was a surgeon from Little Waddingfield, Suffolk Co., Eng. He is mentioned by Gov. Dudley as "a right godly man and a skillful chyrurgeon." He came to America with Gov. Winthrop in June, 1630, and was reckoned of the governor's household. An allowance by the company from the public treasury was made him on account of his office. He was chosen deacon by the church at Charlestown Aug. 27, 1630, but died the next month, Sept. 20. His wife and two children died soon after from the same disease which was contracted by ill diet at sea (Winthrop) or from the unhealthiness of the water supply (Budington).

JOHN GAGER, son of William Gager, removed from Charlestown to Saybrook with the younger Gov. Winthrop and thence to New London in 1646 and thence to Norwich in 1660. With others he complained to the commissioners of the United Colonies in Sept., 1659, against some Indian outrages. He was made freeman in 1675 and constable in 1681. He was remembered in a will of the elder Gov. Winthrop dated 8, 29, 1639, as follows:

"I will that John Gager shall have a cow, one of the best I shall have, in recompense of a heifer his father bought of me, and two ewe goats and ten bushels of Indian corn."

Unfortunately this will was revoked 4, 25, 1641, and Winthrop died March 26, 1649, leaving an estate of only £103:10:11 having lost £2500 through an unfaithful agent in England. John Gager had nine children whose births are recorded in Norwich, though most of them were born before the settlement. Three were sons:

John b. 1647 d. 1690; Samuel b. 1654, m. Rebecca Lay; William b. 1660. Lydia b. 1663.

He died Dec. 10, 1703. His six daughters married: John Allyn, Daniel Brewster, Jeremiah Ripley, Simon Huntington, Joshua Abell and Caleb Forbes.

LYDIA GAGER, dau. of John Gager and Elizabeth was born in Norwich Aug. 8, 1663. She was married Oct. 8, 1683, to Simon, son of Dea. Simon Huntington and Sarah Clark, and died Aug. 8, 1737, having borne him four children.

LEFFINGWELL.

THOMAS LEFFINGWELL was a native of Croxhall, Eng., and one of the earliest settlers of Saybrook. He became acquainted with Uncas in 1637, and in 1645 left Saybrook in a canoe that would carry twenty cwt. laden with beef, corn, peas, etc., entered Pequot river (The Thames) in the night and relieved Uncas, who was besieged by Pessacus, the brother of Miantonomoh, chief of the Narragansetts, who had been killed by Uncas in 1643.

Thomas Tracy and Thomas Minor probably accompanied Mr. Leffingwell on this expedition. "For this service Uncas gave said Leffingwell a deed of great part if not the whole town of Norwich." It does not appear that Leffingwell had any such deed. He petitioned the General Court May 6th, 1667, for leave to accept a grant of land from Uncas, and Thomas Tracy did the same. Final action is thus recorded: "October 10, 1667. This Court grants unto Ensign Thomas Tracy and Thomas Leffingwell the sum of 400 acres of land to be equally divided between them." This land was in Preston.

"Jany. 6, 1661: chosen by the town, Thomas Tracy, Thomas Leffingwell and Francis Griswold with the Townsmen to end all disputes value of forty shillings." Records of the Gen. Court of May 10, 1679, have this entry: "Whereas Uncas his son hath damaged Thomas Tracy Jun. in his swine, and Uncas is willing to make him satisfaction for the same in land this Court grants him liberty to receive of Uncas to the value of 100 acres of land. Lt. Thomas Tracy and Lt. Thomas Leffingwell are appointed to lay out this grant."

Lt. Leffingwell belonged to Capt. Davison's volunteer company of English and Mohegans during Philip's war. He was one of the last survivors of the thirty-five proprietors. He died about 1710 and Mary, his wife, Feby. 6, 1711. Lieut. Thomas Leffingwell attended fifty-three sessions of the General Court at Hartford as representative from Norwich between 1662 and 1700. In Oct., 1696, Lieut. Thos. Leffingwell of Norwich and Sergeant John Frink of Stonington moved the General Court "that they with the rest of the English volunteers in former wars might have a plantation granted to them." Six miles square of land was granted, largely in the town, named in their honor, Voluntown.

MY ANCESTORS.

THOMAS TRACY, son of Sir Paul Tracy, Bart. of Stanway, County Gloucester, England, and Anne Sharkerly, was born about 1610 on the Tewksbury estates. In April 1636 he arrived at Salem, Mass. On the Salem records are these two entries: "23^d 11 mo. Ann^o 1636, Thomas Trace, ship Carpenter, referred to Certificat." "2^d of first mo. 1636-7. Tho: Trace, Rec'd for Inhabitant upon a Certificate from diuers of watter Towne. And is to have 5 acres of Land."

He removed in Feby 1637 to Wethersfield where he was chosen juror and deputy and held other posts of honor. There he married in 1641 Mary, widow of Edward Mason. He then removed to Saybrook where seven children were born. His wife died about 1659. Afterward he married Martha Bourne, widow of John Bradfield, and still later Mary Foote, widow of John Stoddard and John Goodrich. He had no issue by his second and third wives. With Thos. Leffingwell and others he relieved Uncas, Sachem of Mohegan with provisions when he was besieged by Pessaens, Sachem of the Naragansetts in 1645.

He was one of the thirty five original proprietors of Norwich in 1660. He was representative from Norwich and Preston in the Legislature at twenty seven sessions from 1662 to 1684. In 1673 he was commissioned lieutenant of the New London County Dragoons, raised to fight the Dutch and Indians. He was made a Justice in 1678 and died at Norwich Nov. 7, 1685.

"Thomas Tracy was well educated for the time in which he lived. He held his full share of public offices, legislative, military and magisterial. He was a gentleman of consequence in the community, a thorough business man and of the very best personal character." (Robinson)

Children:

John b. 1642. Thomas b. 1644. Jonathan b. 1646. Miriam b. 1648. Solomon b. 1651. Daniel b. 1652. Samuel b. 1654.

SOLOMON TRACY, son of Thomas Tracy and Mary Mason, was born in Saybrook in 1651. He went to Norwich with his father in 1660, and married Nov. 23, 1676, Sarah, dau. of Simon Huntington and Sarah Clark. "In the company of Norwich proprietors he ranked high, having more education than most of them, and being in ability, enterprise and integrity equal to the first."

The title to land north of Norwich in Plainfield and vicinity was claimed by two parties. "The first land laid out in this disputed country was the six hundred acres levied from Uncas and Owaneo 'for satisfaction for their men's burning the county prison.' Fitch as treasurer of New London county was ordered 'to dispose of the land and build said prison therefrom' and he selected the richest part of the Quinebaug valley on both sides of the river. Deeds of sale conveyed this land June 23, 1680, to John, Daniel and Solomon Tracy and Richard Bnshnell, all of Norwich, who at once seized and quietly possessed it." "The selectmen (of Canterbury) were greatly impeded by what they styled 'a wicked pretended deed of nine hundred and sixty acres,' claimed by 'honest Solomon and Daniel Tracy who, when public charges were laid upon out-lands, were so wise as to claim none, but now cannot live without they can ruin seven or eight families and raze the foundations of the town.' "

TRACY.

After the birth of two children his wife died Aug. 31, 1683, and he married second, Sarah Bliss, the widow of Thomas Shuman, Apl. 8, 1686, who bore him a son Solomon. Dr. Solomon Tracy died July 9, 1732.

Children:

Simon	b. Jan. 8, 1679,	m. Mary Leffingwell.

LYDIA TRACY, dau. of Dr. Solomon Tracy and Sarah Huntington, was born in Norwich Oct. 11, 1677. She married March 11, 1698, Thomas, son of Thos. Leffingwell 2nd, and Mary Bushmell. She died Nov. 28, 1757, having borne seven children. Her will dated Mar. 20, 1737-8 names two sons and three daughters.

DANIEL TRACY, son of Thomas Tracy and Mary Mason, was born in Saybrook in 1652. He went to Norwich with his father in 1660 and married Sept. 19, 1682, Abigail, dau. of Thomas Adgate and Mary Marvin. Having borne two children she died Sept. 23, 1710. He married second, Hannah, widow of Thos. Bingham Meh. 4, 1711, who bore him two children: Elizabeth b. Feby 10, 1712, d. Apl. 16, 1715, and Samuel b. Meh. 12, 1714.

He died June 29, 1728, having been injured the day previous. "The inhabitants were engaged in raising a cart bridge twenty feet high and two hundred and fifty feet long 'over Shawtucket river near three miles from town' and had nearly completed the frame when on the 28th of June, just as they were putting together the upper work, a principal piece of timber which lay in the foundation of this upper work being spliced gave way at the joint and falling, tripped up the dependent frame which with its own weight careened and upset. One hundred feet of the bridge fell with forty men on it. The water was very low and the people were precipitated upon the rocks in all directions; twenty were severely wounded and two killed. Mr. Daniel Tracy, one of the last survivors of the old stock that came from Saybrook died the next day of his mortal wounds. He was not concerned in the affair, only as he was a benefactor to it, and went out that day to carry the people some provision and happened to be on the bridge at that juncture of danger." Simon, son of Ebenezer Huntington and Sarah Leffingwell, and died July 30, 1753, not yet 26 years of age, having borne two children. A pewter plate in my possession is stamped on the margin: H. T. The under side bears the "Toison d'or," the emblem of the Order of the Golden Fleece.

THOMAS ADGATE was present at a town meeting in Saybrook in 1655 and was ordained as deacon there in 1659. He removed to Norwich in 1660 and was one of the 35 proprietors. Joshua, the third son of Uncas, by his will which was allowed by the General Court of Conn. in 1678, gave to sixteen Norwich gentlemen a tract of 48000 acres, comprising a large part of the present territory of Windham, Mansfield, Chaplin, Hampton and Scotland. Among the sixteen were Thomas Tracy, Thomas Adgate, Thomas Leffingwell and Simon Huntington. None of these occupied their shares in person.

When the meetinghouse was enlarged in 1698 the pews were arranged in eight classes, and five of the oldest and most respected inhabitants, viz: Lt. Thomas Leffingwell, Lt. William Backus, Dea. Simon Huntington, Thomas Adgate Sen. and Serg. John Tracy were directed to seat the people with due regard to rank.

By his first wife Dea. Adgate had two daughters, Elizabeth and Hannah. Before leaving Saybrook he married Mary, widow of Richard Bushnell and dau. of Matthew and Elizabeth Marvyn. She had two sons and two daughters by Mr. Bushnell and three daughters and one son by Dea. Adgate. His will dated May 22, 1704, begins: "I, Thomas Adgate being in the 84th year of my age". He died in 1707.

MARVIN.

MATTHEW MARVIN was born in England about 1600. In the records of Westminster Hall is a list of persons "to be transported to New England imbarqued in the 'Increase,' Robert Lea, master, having taken oath of allegiance and supremacy etc." among whom are:

"husbandman	Matthew Marvyn	age 35 yrs.
uxor	Elizabeth Marvyn	31
	Elizabeth Marvyn	11
	Matthew Marvyn	8
	Marie Marvyn	6
	Sara Marvyn	3
	Hanna Marvyn	$\frac{1}{2}$ "

Matthew Marvin was one of the original settlers of Hartford and resided for some years on the corner of Village and Front Streets. He removed about 1650 to Norwalk where he was a pioneer. He was representative to the General Court in 1654 and died at Norwalk in 1687. Late in life he married for his second wife Mrs. Alice Kellogg.

Children by first wife:

MARY MARVIN, dan. of Matthew and Elizabeth Marvin, was born in England in 1629 and came to Hartford in 1635. She married in 1648 Richard Bushnell of Saybrook to whom she bore four children: Joseph, Richard, Mary, Maria. He died in 1658 and in 1660 she married Dea. Thomas Adgate, who had two children, Elizabeth and Hannah, and removed to Norwich where she bore him four children: Abigail, Sarah, Rebecca and Thomas. Her son Richard married her husband's daughter Elizabeth, an unusual, but not improper alliance. Of more interest to our family is our descent from Mary Marvin, through both her husbands. She died in Norwich, March 29, 1713 aged 84.

This certifies to whom it may concern, that Mr
John Paine Jr. has been for some time a member of this institution during which he has sustained an unblemished moral character,

As regards erudition he is in my opinion well qualified to teach those branches of Education usually pursued in our district Schools,

MY ANCESTORS

ROYAL ANCESTRY OF THOMAS TRACY.

An abstract of "Ancestors of Lieut. Thomas Tracy of Norwich, Conn., by Lieut. Charles Stedman Ripley, U. S. Navy, 1895."

Edmund (Ironsides), son of Aethelred the Unready, was King of England from April 23, 1016 till his death Nov. 30, 1016, probably poisoned at the instance of Canute the Dane who married his mother and took possession of the throne.

Edward, his son, was driven into exile. He married Agatha, dau. of Henry II. of Germany, who was King of Bavaria and crowned Emperor of Rome in 1014 and died in 1024.

Margaret, their daughter, married Malcolm III. King of Scotland. She was the first crowned queen of Scotland and a most amiable and excellent woman.

Henry De Grey received the manor of Thurrock from King Richard I. in 1194. In 1216 Henry III. gave him the manor of Grimston. He married Isolda, niece of Robert Bardolf.

Sir John De Grey, his second son, was sheriff of Buckingham and Bedford in 1233. He was summoned with horse and arms to attend King Henry III. into Flanders in 1241. He married the Lady Joane, widow of Pauline Pevere. He was very loyal to the King and held many high offices and died in 1265.

Reginald De Grey, his son, in 1280 made Justice of Chester. In 1294 he was summoned to Parliament as a baron. He was Assistant to Prince Edward in 1296 during the king's absence in Flanders. He married Maud, daughter and heiress of William, Lord Fitz Hugh, by Hawys, daughter and heiress of Hugh De Longchamp of Wilton Castle in County Hereford.

John De Grey, his eldest son, was summoned to Parliament from June 9, 1309, to Sept. 18, 1322. In 1316 (10 Edward II.) he was made Justice of North Wales and Governor of the Castle of Caernarvon. His lordship married first Anne, dau. of William, Lord Ferrers and second Maud, dau. of Ralph, Lord Basset.

Roger De Grey, his eldest son by the second wife, was summoned to Parliament as Lord Grey de Ruthyn. He married Lady Elizabeth Hastings.

Philip De Estley was a feudal baron in the reign of Henry II. His son Thomas De Astley in 1210 paid a hundred marks to the crown to be excused from going beyond the sea. Afterward he took up arms against King John, was taken prisoner and his estates confiscated. Later his estates were restored by Henry III. He married Maud, sister of Roger de Camvill.

Walter De Astley, his son, was with his father in rebellion against King John. He died before 1240.

TRACY

Sir Thomas De Astley, Knt. was a faithful subject of King Henry III. and held many appointments from 1241 to 1250. In 1262 he was a leader of the rebellious barons and in 1264 he was slain in the battle of Evesham between the king and barons. His first wife was Joane, dau. of Ernald de Bois and second Editha, dau. of Peter Constable.

Thomas De Astley, eldest son by the first wife, recovered the family estates on payment of 320 marks. He was with King Edward I. at the victory at Falkirk and was rewarded for his loyalty and military service by being summoned to Parliament as Baron Astley.

Sir Guy De Astley, his second son, fought with King Edward II. and was taken prisoner at Bannocksburn. He married Alice, second daughter of Sir Thomas Wolvey, Knt.

Thomas De Astley, third Lord Astley, was summoned to Parliament from 1342 to 1349. He was more of a churchman than a soldier. About 1339 he founded a chantry in the parish church at Astley. Later he erected a beautiful church in the form of a cross with a tall spire and dedicated to the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin. He married Elizabeth, dau. of Guy De Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick. Their eldest son—

William De Astley was the fourth Lord Astley. He was never summoned to Parliament, but was included in several commissions during the reigns of Henry IV. and Henry V. He married Catherine, dau. of William, Lord Willoughby De Eresby, by whom he left an only daughter.

Lady Joane De Astley married, first, Thomas Raleigh, by whom she had no issue; and secondly, Reginald, Lord Grey De Ruthyn.

Isabella of Angouleme was dau. of Aymer, Comte of Angouleme and Alicia, dau. of Peter of Courtenay, a younger son of Louis VI. of France. She was married to King John of England during his visit to France in August, 1200. Her first son, King Henry III., was born Oct. 1, 1207. She was imprisoned in 1214 by order of John. After his death she returned to France and married, May, 1220, Hugh Le Brun Comte de la Marche. She died at Fontebraud in 1246. Their son—

William De Lusignan (de Valence) came to England with his brother Guy and sister Alice to escape oppression, and were provided for by their half brother Henry III. William was made governor of Goderich castle and through the influence of the King married Joane, daughter and heir of Warim de Monchensi and Joane, sister of the Earl of Pembroke. In 1249 he was with the army of Crusaders in the Holy Land. He was called William De Valance in England, and bore the title of Earl of Pembroke. He married Anne, daughter of Raffe Sharkerly of Ayno-on-the-Hill, County of Northampton, by Alice, daughter of Hugh Radcliffe. Anne died in 1615. His second wife was Anna, daughter of Sir Ambrose Nicholas, Knt., Lord Mayor of London. He died in 1626. By his first wife he had twenty-one children: Richard, Elizabeth, Hester, Paul, Susan, Barbara, Susanna, Alexander, Alice, Luey, Margaret, Sharkerley, Susan, Saunders, Nathaniel, William, Nathaniel, Thomas b. 1610, John, Vicessimus (so named because he was the twentieth child) and Anne.

Thomas Tracy emigrated to America.

NOTE.—If perchance some Philistine should discover that Thomas Tracy of Norwich was not the son of Sir Paul, I hope none of my kindred will feel broken hearted, for I am confident that the ancestors of our Thomas were quite as respectable as these natural and unnatural children of noble and ignoble parents.

"Honor and shame from no condition rise;
Act well your part, there all the honor lies."

GREENE

GEORGE NORMAN CARR,
My Wife's Father.

JOHN GREENE was born in 1597, probably at Bowridge Hall, Gillingham, Dorsetshire, England, where his father Richard and grandfather Richard (son of Robert) resided. He was married in 1619 at St. Thomas Church in Salisbury, Wiltshire, Eng. to Joan Tattersall, and there he practiced his profession of surgeon. He sailed in the "James" Apl. 6, 1635 from Southampton and arrived in Boston June 3, 1635. He lived some time in Salem, and was, no doubt, a friend of Roger Williams, for on Aug. 1, 1637 he was bound in 100 marks to appear at the next Quarter Court for having spoken contemptuously of the magistrates. About this time he departed to Providence, and on Sept. 29, 1637 he was fined £20 and to be committed until paid, and enjoined not to come into this jurisdiction upon pain of fine and imprisonment at the pleasure of the court for speaking contemptuously of magistrates.

Mar. 12, 1638 he sent a letter to the General Court of Mass. charging them "with usurping the power of Christ over the churches and men's consciences" etc., and for this he was ordered not to come into Mass. under pain of imprisonment and further censure. He was one of twelve to whom Roger Williams on Oct. 8, 1638 deeded the land bought by him from Canonieus and Miantonomoh, and the same year was one of the twelve original members of the first Baptist Church.

MY WIFE'S ANCESTORS

For 144 fathoms of wampum he and ten others on Jan'y 12, 1643 bought from Miantonomoh the tract of land which became the town of Warwick. Sept. 12, 1643 the men of Warwick were summoned to Boston on the complaint of Pomham and Socconocco, but they refused to go, claiming that they were beyond the limits of Mass. authority. Soldiers were sent who besieged the settlers in a fortified house. He escaped, but all the rest were carried to Boston, and imprisoned until March, when they and he were banished. With two others he then went to England to obtain redress for their wrongs, being obliged to take ship from New York, and returned in 1646 successful. He was Commissioner in 1654-5-6-7.

His wife Joan died about the time of his leaving England, and he married, second, Alice Daniels, a widow, who died in 1643, and he married third Phillis, who survived him and died Mar. 10, 1688. He died in 1658, leaving a will which was proven Jany. 7, 1659, and named his wife Phillis as executrix (except as to matters with Wm. Arnold, which son John was to attend to). He gives to his wife, sons John, Peter, James and Thomas and dau. Mary Sweet and gr. ch. Ann Hade.

JOHN GREENE, son of John Greene and Joan Tattersall, was baptized Aug. 15, 1620 in Salisbury, Eng. He was married about 1648 in Warwick, R. I. to Ann, dau. of William and Andry Almy. Feby. 3, 1651 he and three others agreed with the town of Warwick to build a mill and grind the town corn at two quarts per bushel. He was Commissioner from 1652 to 1663; General Recorder in 1652, '3 and '4; General Solicitor in 1655; Attorney General in 1657, '8, '9 and '60; Warden in 1658; Assistant in 1660 to 1673, '77, '78, '80 to '86, '89 and '90; Deputy in 1664, '74, 77 and '80; Major for the Main in 1683 to '6, '90, '91 and '96, and Deputy Governor of R. I. from 1690 to 1700.

June 29, 1670 he and John Clark were chosen agents to go to Eng. for vindication of the Charter of R. I. before His Majesty and to redeem the same from the injurious violations thereof by the colony of Conn. Jany. 30, 1671 he was allowed £10 for his charge and pains in going to the treaty at New London, etc. Apl. 4, 1676 the Assembly desired at its next sitting the company and counsel of sixteen men (most judicious inhabitants) among whom was Capt. John Greene. Being in Eng. he was called upon Feby. 3, 1679 to give information as to Mt. Hope. He and another valued the 4000 acres at £4000, and received £60 for their disbursements in Eng. May 5, 1680 he was one of three to buy a bell "for the public use of the Colony and for giving notice or signifying the several times or sittings of the Assemblys and Courts of Trials and General Conneils."

In 1683 he and Randall Holden sent a letter to King Charles II concerning Gov. Cranfield of N. H. and the Commissioners, who lately held a court in Kings Town, but who would show no commission from the King. In 1686 he was notified by Gov. Andros of appointment as a member of his Conneil. Jan. 30, 1690 he sent with others a letter of congratulations to William and Mary on their accession to the crown. The next year he was voted by the Assembly ten shillings for his encouragement for drawing up an address to their Majesties and for drawing up a letter to the Gov. of N. Y. etc. His will dated 1706 was proven Dec. 20, 1708, and names sons Peter, Job, Richard and Samuel as executors. He calls himself an inhabitant of Greene Hole alias Oocupasituxet, and names wife, four sons above named, and dans. Deborah Torrey, Ann Greene, Catherine Holden, Audry Spenceer, giving each £16, also to gr. dan. Mary Dyer and to dan. Phillis (Carr) Dickin-son's children. He charged his children to care for his wife and "to manifest their love to me and her in lending their help unto her, and so I take leave, commending my wife and children to the fear of God in whose fear I rest in assured hope of salvation." Inventory: £167:9:0.

Aug. 27, 1668 Phillis Greene, widow, deeded to John Green—considering her desolate condition and to free herself of many troubles attending it—my dwelling house, lot and all the rest of estate of household goods, etc.; except a cow and some small things already given my gr. dan. Phillis Greene. He engaged to provide her with meat, drink, lodging, etc., and £6 per annum, and to transport said pay to Newport at his own cost by Sept. 29 annually. He and his wife were buried on the homestead farm.

MY WIFE'S ANCESTORS

THOMAS STAFFORD of Warwickshire, Eng. was a miller. He was in Plymouth in 1626, and is said to have built the first mill in this country for grinding corn by water power. He was admitted inhabitant of Newport May 20, 1638, and had a grant of 17 acres. He was a witness to will of John Walker Mar. 18, 1647.

It was ordered by the Town Council of Warwick, R. I. June 7, 1652, "that, whereas Thomas Stafford hath bought a house of Christopher Unthank * * * and so he is become a townsmen." He bought a house in Warwick Apl. 16, 1657 of Thomas Lawton of Plymouth. Action of trespass was brought against him in 1657 by James Greene and Randall Holden. In 1658 the Warwick settlers were subject to more serious trespasses:

"Ordered that if any one kill the great gray wolf that hath done so much mischief in the town, he shall have £5 for his pains and for any other wolf £4, and if any Indian kill a wolf within the confines of the town he shall have 40s. for his pains, etc."

The reward of £5 was paid in 1662 to John, brother of Renewed Sweet Gereardy in peage at eight per penny. In 1659 he sold land to Henry Knowles. In 1662 he had a grant of land at Potawomnt. He was Deputy in 1673. He died in 1677 at the age of seventy-two years.

His will dated Nov. 4, 1677 and proved Apl. 27, 1678 gave to his well beloved wife Elizabeth one half of his dwelling house for life, half of his orchard, meadow and other land, and two cows; to his son Thomas the other half, and at wife's death her half, also, and the two cows; to his wife for life, his bedding and household stuff, and at her death to go to son Thomas and dan. WESCOTT

STUKELEY WESCOTT, b. 1592, d. 1677, 1, 12. He was made freeman in Salem 1636. With others of Salem having license to depart it was ordered on Mar. 12, 1638 by the Gen. Ct. that they appear at next court in May, if they be not gone before, to answer such things as should be objected. At Providence Oct. 8, 1638 he with others had deed from Roger Williams of land bought from Canonics and Miantonomoh.

July 1, 1639 he and wife are alluded to in a letter from the Rev. Hugh Peters to the church in Dorchester as having had the great censure passed upon them in this our church. He was one of the twelve original members of the First Baptist Church organized at Providence. July 27, 1640 with 38 others of Prov. he signed agreement for a civil government. He was recorded as inhabitant of Warwick June 5, 1648.

Sept. 2, 1650 he was taxed 13s. 4d. at Prov. on real estate. He was Commissioner in 1651-2-3-5 and '60. He bought 36 acres of John Gereardy Mar. 1, 1652. On June 7, 1652, John Cooke was granted liberty to make a highway between his uncle, Stukeley Wescott, and himself. He was surveyor of highways in 1652-3-4-5-6 and assistant in 1653.

May 7, 1655 he and Mr. Smith were ordered to cast up what damage is due to the Indians and place every man's share according to his proportion and gather it up. May 27, 1655 he was appointed to keep a house of entertainment. 1657 June 14 he received from John Bennett of Warwick 8 cattle, 9 pound of peage at 8 a penny, and a horse and lands and goods, engaging on behalf of himself and heirs to maintain the said John Bennett during his life in meat and drink and apparel. The only reservation was £5 to be at John Bennett's disposal during life. He was Deputy in 1671.

His will is dated Janv. 12, 1677. He died the same day, while temporarily at Portsmouth. He calls himself aged about 85. He names his eldest son Amos, grandson Amos, etc. He died before he could sign the will. 1695, Nov. 1 testimony as to his will was given by Joseph Stafford, Mercy Stafford and her son Amos before John Greene Dep. Gov. It was shown that testator would have signed it but was requested by Caleb Arnold to wait while his (the testator's) sons were sent for from Prudence Island, but by the time they came he was unable to sign. The will was finally ordered recorded by the Town Council Feby. 18, 1697.

WILLIAMS

ROGER WILLIAMS was son of James Williams and Alice Pemberton of London. He was born in Wales about 1600 and received a good education, taking a bachelor's degree at Pembroke College, Cambridge, Jan'y. 1627. He embarked at Bristol Dec. 1, 1630 in the "Lion" and arrived in Boston Feb'y. 5, 1631. In noting the event Winthrop calls him "a godly minister." He settled at Salem Apl. 12, 1631, went to Plymouth soon after as assistant pastor, but returned in 1633 and became pastor on the death of the Rev. Skelton 1634. He declined a unanimous call to the church in Boston because they would not make public declaration of repentance for having communed with the churches of England. He was excommunicated in 1635 from the church in Salem for not bringing his children to baptism.

In Apl. 1635 he was summoned to court in Boston for teaching publicly that a magistrate ought not to tender an oath to an unregenerate man. Oct. 9, 1635 he was sentenced to banishment and ordered "out of this jurisdiction within six weeks now next ensuing." He received permission to remain until spring, but would not refrain from uttering his opinions. A messenger was sent to Salem to arrest him in Jan'y. 1636, but he had gone three days before. Thirty-five years after he wrote: "I was sorely tossed for over fourteen weeks in a bitter winter season not knowing what bed or bread did mean."

He bought land for a new settlement from Canonicus and Miantonomoh, which he named "Providence." In 1639 he was baptized by Ezekiel Holliman, and then baptized him and others, and for a few years acted as pastor of the First Baptist Church. In 1643 he proceeded to England to secure a charter, which he obtained, returning Sept. 17, 1644. He was Assistant in 1647-48-64-65-70-71-72. In 1651 he went to England again and the next year published "Experiments of Spiritual Life and Health, and their Preservation."

He returned in 1654 and was chosen President of the Colony, and for three years after. He was a Commissioner in 1658-59-61, Deputy in 1667 and Town Clerk in 1675-76 and of the Town Council 1670-78-79-80.

In 1682, May 6 he wrote Gov. Bradstreet asking advice as to printing his discourses, etc. "But these are but sublunaries, temporaries and trivials. Eternity, O Eternity, is our business." The sentence of banishment was revoked March 31, 1676. He married, about the time of his coming to America, Mary Barnard. She died in 1676, and he survived until 1683.

MY WIFE'S ANCESTORS

MARY WILLIAMS, dau. of Roger Williams and Mary Barnard, was born in Plymouth, Mass. the first week in August, 1633. She was married in 1650 to John Sayles of Providence and died in 1681, having borne six children.

WILLIAM DYER was a milliner of London. He came to Boston in Dec. 1635, and with his wife Mary joined the church whereof Mr. Wilson was pastor. Mar. 15, 1637 he signed with others a remonstrance affirming the innocence of Mr. Wheelwright, and that the court had condemned the truth of Christ; for which he was disfranchised Nov. 15, 1637, and warned Nov. 20, 1637 "to deliver up all guns, pistols, swords, powder, shot, etc."

In 1638 Winthrop alludes to "the wife of one William Dyer, a milliner in the New Exchange, a very proper and fair woman, and both of them notoriously infected with Mrs. Hutchinson's errors and very censorious and troublesome." He signed the corporate compact with eighteen others Apl. 28, 1639, and departed to Portsmouth and Newport. He was chosen Secretary for both towns from 1640 to 1647, General Recorder in 1648, and Attorney General from 1650 to 1653. He went to England with John Clarke and Roger Williams, and returned in 1653, leaving his wife abroad. He received a commission as Captain and Commander in Chief upon sea, to act against the Dutch May 18, 1653.

His wife returned from England in 1657, a Quaker and a minister. On disembarking at Boston she was soon put in prison for being a Quaker, but was released on petition of her husband and ordered out of Mass. She returned to Boston in 1659 and was tried for not remaining in banishment. She was condemned to death with William Robinson and Marmaduke Stevenson, and stood on the scaffold with the rope about her neck Oct. 27, 1659 while they were hung, but she was reprieved.

"On Petition to the General Court, 1659, Oct. 18, of William Dyer, her son, it is ordered that Mary Dyer shall have liberty for forty-eight hours after this day to depart out of this jurisdiction, after which time being found therein she is to be exeuted."

The next day she wrote "Once more to the general court assembled in Boston, speaks Mary Dyer, even as before. My life is not accepted, neither availeth me, in comparison of the lives and liberty of the truth and servants of the living God * * *" "Viewed from a literary, moral or religious standpoint, Mary Dyer's letters compare favorably with the best efforts of the leading Puritans." (Hallowell.)

She then went to Rhode Island, but returning to Boston in May, 1660, she was brought before Gov. Endicott who said: "Are you the same Mary that was here before?" She replied: "I am the same Mary, etc." He then said: "You will own yourself a Quaker, will you not?" She answered: "I own myself to be reproachfully so called." He then sentenced her to be hung the day following.

On the gallows June 1, 1660, she was adjured by her early pastor, Mr. Wilson, to repent and not to be "so deluded and carried away by the deceit of the devil." She said: "No ear can hear, no tongue can utter, no heart can understand the sweet incomes and the refreshings of the Spirit of the Lord which I now feel."

She was accompanied from the prison to the gallows by a band of soldiers with drums beating that none might hear her speak. She is described as "a person of no mean extract or parentage, of an estate pretty plentiful, of a comely stature and countenance, of a piercing knowledge in many things, of a wonderful sweet and pleasant discourse."

He was Commissioner in 1661-62, Deputy 1664-66, General Solicitor 1665-66-68 and Secretary to the Council 1669. He died 1677, leaving a widow named Catherine.

His widow married Daniel Vernon Sept. 23, 1679 and died in 1717. Her will dated Jan. 1, 1717, names her son Samuel Vernon as executor. MY WIFE'S ANCESTORS

EDWARD DYER, SON of Samuel Dyer and Ann Hutchinson, was born in Kingstown, R. I. in 1670. He was a carpenter. On Feby. 9, 1691 he and his brother Elisha were complained of by their step-father, Daniel Vernon of Kingstown, for taking possession of his farm at Aquidneset, forcing open the door of the cellar, etc., they both being non-residents.

He married about 1697 Mary, dau. of William Greene and Mary Sayles. On Sept. 22, 1698 he and his wife signed a bond at Newport in the sum of £200 to stand by the arbitration of Thomas Olney and Weston Clark regarding a house and lot in Warwick for which an action had been commenced by Edward Dyer for his wife, the dau. of William Greene, deceased, against Samuel Greene, to whom the bond was given. On Mar. 17, 1699, he and his wife gave a receipt to uncle Samuel Greene for £15, and also for £10 already had according to the award.

SAMUEL DYER, SON of Edward Dyer and Mary Greene, was born about 1703, probably at Warwick, R. I. He married Tabitha, dau. of Nathaniel Niles?

GEORGE DYER, SON of Samuel Dyer and Tabitha Niles, was born about 1730. He married Anna, dau. of Nichols.

SYBIL DYER, dau. of George Dyer and Anna Nichols, was born in Rhode Island Aug. 1, 1772. She married Feby. 16, 1791 at West Greenwich, R. I. the Rev. Stately Carr, and died Dec. 7, 1839, having borne sixteen children. "She was sick two weeks in great distress, but had her senses the most of the time."

WILLIAM HUTCHINSON was a merchant of good estate from Alford, in Lincolnshire, who arrived in Boston on the "Griffin", Sept. 18, 163. ., drawn hither by admiration of the Rev. John Cotton. He was admitted to the First Church of Boston 26th of 8th month, and his wife 2nd of 9th month, 1634. He was made freeman March 4, 1635, and was at once chosen representative of Boston to the General Court, and four courts following.

He was one of those disarmed in 1637, and in order to enjoy the religious liberty for which he had left England he removed to Rhode Island, where he was chosen Assistant or Magistrate in 1639. He died in 1642 aged about 52. His wife Ann, dau. of Francis Marbury and Bridget Dryden of Alford, Eng., was "the gifted prophetess of the doleful heresies that shook and almost subverted the colony of Mass." (Savage.)

HUTCHINSON

“Nothing can be discovered or inferred in this age, from any known record, which sullies her matronly or her religious character. She must have been richly endowed with gifts of wisdom and grace. She displayed no worse or greater religious perversity than that of enthusiasm.” Josselyn and Weld call her the “American Jezebel.” Johnson calls her “the master piece of woman’s wit.” Winthrop in Oct. 1636 writes: “One Mrs. Hutchinson, a member of the church of Boston, a woman of a ready wit and bold spirit, brought over with her two dangerous errors: first, that the person of the Holy Ghost dwells in a justified person; second, that no sanctification can help to evidence to us our justification.” “It appeared that Gov. Vane, the magistrates Coddington and Dummer, and the ministers Cotton and Wheelwright, with the large majority of the Boston Church, made common cause with Mrs. Hutchinson about justification.” “The contest between the disputants was which of the two, sanctification or justification, was the cause and which the effect.”

After the disfranchisement and banishment of Mr. Wheelwright, her son-in-law, Mrs. Hutchinson was brought to trial in Nov. 1637 at Cambridge before the General Court, charged by Gov. Winthrop “with being a disturber of the peace of the Commonwealth and of the Churches; with promoting the opinions which had caused so much trouble; with being nearly connected by affinity and sympathy with those already censured; with defaming the churches and ministers; with maintaining a meeting at her house which was neither tolerable nor comely in the sight of God, nor fitting for her sex." The trial was "one of the most shameful proceedings recorded in the annals of Protestantism." "With all the allowance which charity can devise * * * the treatment of Mrs. H. on her trial deserves the severest epithets of censure."

She was convicted of traducing the ministers and ministry and was banished. The same court for fear of "some sudden irruption" ordered seventy-five of her sympathizers, who had dared to petition the court in opposition to the censure of Mr. Wheelwright, to deliver up all guns, pistols, swords, powder, shot and match. Among the names are William Hutchinson, William Dyer, Samuel Wilbore, John Porter and William Freeborn.

"Her three great failings and weaknesses were her spiritual pride, her contempt of public ordinances and her censorious tongue. She was puffed up by her intuitions and self assurance; she thought no ministrations of religious counsel could be equal in value to her own, and she was guilty of offensive personalities." "The ministers were her most jealous, most determined, and perhaps, for the time, most proper opponents." "But allowing all just exceptions, she was still a high-minded and excellent woman." "She appears to have been a faithful wife and mother, and for aught that can now be discovered she was a Christian in heart and in life."

Before the sentence of banishment was executed Mrs. H. was tried by the Church for gross errors to the number of thirty on March 15th and March 22d, 1638 and "cast out of the church for impenitently persisting in a manifest lie." "The controversy of three years' continuance which had drawn nearly the whole of the believers in Boston, magistrates, ministers, women, soldiers and the common multitude, under the banners of a female leader * * * was thus brought to an issue by imputing deception about one of the most unintelligible tenets of faith to her, who could not be circumvented in any other way."

She left Boston March 28, 1638 and joined her friends in Providence, the asylum of many of those who had been disarmed by order of the court in Boston. The church in Boston sent a committee of three to the Island to make one more attempt to reclaim Mrs. H., but they reported small success. "Mr. H. told us he was more nearly tied to his wife than to the church; he thought her to be a dear saint and servant of God."

Soon after her husband's death in 1642 she with all her remaining family, except her daughter Savage and son Edward, removed to a new settlement west of New Haven (near Hell Gate, N. Y. Century Cyc. of Names) where all, to the number of sixteen, save one child who was taken captive, were, without provocation, cruelly slaughtered by the Indians.

MY WIFE'S ANCESTORS

ROGER MOWRY or Morey was by tradition a cousin of Roger Williams and lived in the same places: Plymouth, Salem and Providence, and perhaps came with him from England. He was made freeman May 18, 1631. He was a member of the church in Salem in 1636.

July. 20, 1637 it was agreed with Roger Mowry, neat herd, by the town of Salem that he should begin the keeping of the town's cattle the fifth of the second month (April) and to so continue eight months with the help of another sufficient man. He was to be ready at the pen gate an hour after sunrise each day to take them. Those who did not have their cattle ready were to bring them after the herd. He was to have seven shillings per head of all except bulls to be paid in four equal payments and always one fourth beforehand.

1637, Feby. 20, he had 50 acres laid out. Mar. 25, 1642 he and Lawrence Southwick agreed to keep the cows as last year except wages which were to be five shillings per head. In 1643 he moved to Providence and was made freeman in 1655. The same year he was appointed to keep a house of entertainment.

July 29, 1656 he entered 10 ankers of liquors and same year 3 ankers of rum and 2 bbls. of sack. In 1658 he bought four acres of Robert Colwell and was chosen Commissioner. Oct. 12, 1659 Roger Mowry of Providence and Mary, his wife, being the eldest daughter of John Johnson, late of Roxbury, deceased, for £60 deeded to Wm. Parkes one-sixth part of the estate of said J. J. devised to them by his will dated July 30, 1659. Jany. 21, 1660-1 Isaae Heath of Roxbury died and by his will gave 20s. to his kinswoman, Mary Mowry.

Jany. 1, 1664 Elizabeth Heath of Roxbury, widow of Isaac, gave 10s. to Mary Mowry and the same to Thomas Mowry, her son. In 1669 administration of his estate was refused to Mary Mowry because his property would not discharge his debts and legacies. The Town Council gave her £20 of the estate to help relieve her old age and for good reason to them appearing. Sept. 5, 1671 she sold to Stephen Paine of Rehoboth the house, outhousing, three house lots and commoning.

Jany. 29, 1679 his widow, now widow of John Kingsley, was buried at Rehoboth.

PORTER

REBECCA WILBUR was born about 1665. She married William Browning, and died before her husband, having borne five children.

JOHN PORTER lived in Roxbury, Boston, Portsmouth and Kingstown, R. I. He married Margaret Odding, a widow.

1657, Jan'y 20 he with others made Pettaquamscott purchase.

1658, 59, 60, 61 he was Commissioner.

1665, May 3 at Kingstown, his wife Margaret petitioned the Assembly, complaining that her said husband did not give suitable care, and that he is gone from her, leaving her in such a necessitous state that unavoidably she is brought to a near dependence upon her children for her daily support to her very great grief of heart. The court, having a deep sense upon their hearts of the sad condition which this poor ancient matron is by this means reduced into, enacted that all estate, real and personal, of John Porter in this jurisdiction is secured, etc., until he hath settled a competent estate upon his aged wife.

1665, June 27, he was relieved from restraint, having settled on his wife for life such an estate as doth fully satisfy her. She died soon thereafter and he married, second, Herodias (Horod), divorcee of Geo. Gardiner, to whom she had borne eight children, and previously widow of John Hicks.

On May 11, 1658 Horod Gardiner "being the mother of many children, came with her Babe suckling at her Breast from Newport to Weymouth to deliver her religious Testimony, for which she was hurried to Boston before your Gov. John Endicott, who, after he had entertained her with much abusive Language, committed her, and the girl Mary Stanton, who came with her to help bear the child, to Prison and Ordered them to be whipped with Ten Lashes apiece, which was cruelly laid on their Naked Bodies with a three-fold-knotted-whip of cords and then were continued Fourteen days longer in Prison." "After the Savage, Inhuman and Bloody Execution on her of your Cruelty afore-said, she kneeled down and prayed the Lord to Forgive you." (Bishop's New England Judge.)

1671, May 19 John Porter took oath of allegiance. The same year he and his wife Horod deeded 200 acres in Narragansett to her son William Gardiner.

John Porter died in 1674, leaving at least one child, Hannah.

HANNAH PORTER, dau. of John and Margaret Porter, was born about 1633 and married Samuel Wilbur. A PARTING WORD.

In the summer of 1897 it occurred to me that I ought to put on paper the names of my grandparents, so that my children need never confess their total ignorance of their ancestry and thereby be tempted to claim in later years that they were self-made. A few names written down naturally suggested the possibility of more, and so the idea grew by what it fed on until the Atlantic Ocean became my Ultima Thule. While I have followed two or three lines across the water, that was no part of the original plan. In fact the work has been done without any plan, and without any purpose to put the accumulation of material into book form until quite recently. Nearly all the data was collected at odd intervals, prior to 1900, from printed genealogies and town histories found in the Newberry Library and the Chicago Public Library. No great amount of original research is preserved herein, and much of the text is in the language of others.

Recently some of my near-of-kin have urged me to put in permanent form the results of my pastime, and so to please them, and perhaps myself, I have asked the aid of a printer and publisher to assist me in building my ancestral monument.

I have enjoyed with such exquisite pleasure the gathering of the material included in this volume that I sometimes feel as if I had wronged my posterity by depriving them of the chance to explore the same fields and make the same discoveries. But, as my children have twice as many ancestors as I, and my grandchildren four times as many, possibly they will not resent my excursions into antiquity.

While preparing my copy for the press I have cherished the thought that some, perhaps many, of my kindred and friends will appreciate and admire this by-product of my idle hours, and I have also felt a growing confidence in the approbation of generations yet unborn.

I am so conscious of the numberless imperfections, inaccuracies and mistakes in the book and so confident that I could, with a little more research and a little more time, correct many of the errors and add much material of equal or greater interest, that I hesitate to lock the forms and write "Finis."

On the other hand, so many of my kin, who would have been greatly interested in the book, have passed away since I began the work, that I am impelled to cease my search and show the results, if my contemporary kindred are to share with me the pleasure of looking at the lines of our descent.

And now, my book, go forth and give my kindred a better knowledge of their kindred and preserve for future generations this feeble and unworthy tribute to the memory of my beloved father and mother.

LYMAN MAY PAINE.
